

Class Exercise 4 — Employee, Department, and Project

- A company maintains information about its employees, departments, and projects.
- Each employee has a unique Employee ID, a Name, Address, Salary, and Date of Birth.
- Each department has a unique Department ID, a Department Name, Manager, and Location.
- Each project has a unique Project Number, a Project Name, and a Budget.
- An employee may belong to one department, and a department may have many employees. An employee does not have to belong to a department, and a department may exist without having any employees assigned to it.
- Employees may work on many projects, and a project may have many employees working on it. An employee does not have to be assigned to a project. However, every project must have at least one employee working on it.
